

Copyright

Under protection afforded by the Copyright Act 1968 (Cth) and international law, copyright of all materials and information present on this website resides with DMTC Limited (DMTC).

No material anywhere on this website may be copied, stored, distributed or transmitted in any form or by any means including photocopying, scanning, or other mechanical or electronic methods except as legally allowed for private study, research or review. No material may be disseminated without the express and written permission of DMTC and DMTC reserves the right to revoke that permission at any time. No material may be used to imply an endorsement from DMTC or an association with DMTC without the written permission of DMTC and you may not pass off content from this website as your own. This includes the practice of 'Framing' the DMTC website within another site as well as copying and re-using parts or material from the site.

Apart from reasonable use for the purpose of private study, research or academic review as permitted under the Copyright Act and associated legislation, no part of the material contained anywhere on this website may be included, reproduced for or used for any commercial purposes whatsoever.

Material from this web site must not be used in any advertising, displays, on other websites or in any public context whatsoever without specific written authorisation from DMTC. Where permission is granted by DMTC, appropriate attribution must be given to DMTC. DMTC reserves all other rights.

Disclaimer

The content of public areas of the Defence Materials Technology Centre Limited (DMTC) website is provided for information purposes only.

No claim is made as to the accuracy or authenticity of the content on this site at any time. DMTC does not accept any liability to any person for the information or advice (or the use of such information or advice) which is provided on this website or incorporated into it by reference.

DMTC endeavours to ensure that the website is operational but accepts no responsibility or liability whatsoever if the website is temporarily unavailable for any reason.

DMTC accepts no liability whatsoever for any interference with or damage to a user's computer system, software or data as a result of connecting with this website. This website may contain links to external sites and/or sources of information. DMTC accepts no responsibility and disclaims all liability for any loss or damage that may occur by use of the information, practices or services in connection with a link to the DMTC website or on any linked websites or information sources. Any links to any other websites are inserted for convenience only and do not constitute endorsement of material at those sites, or of any organisation, product or service associated with those sites. All access and use is at the risk of the user.

Privacy Statement

Consistent with Government policy, DMTC Limited (DMTC) endorses and practices fair information handling practices. DMTC takes reasonable steps to protect the personal information it holds from misuse and loss, and from unauthorised access, modification or disclosure. While DMTC provides a secure environment, you should be aware that there are inherent risks associated with the transmission of information via the internet. Any information provided will be treated as confidential and used only for the purpose intended or stated unless in exceptional circumstances where authorised by law.

When you visit this site, our server logs the following information:

- the operating system and browser you are using;
- your top-level domain name (eg, .com, .au);
- the address of the referring site (the previous site you visited that linked to ours, typically a search engine);
- your server's IP address (the network address of your internet service provider's server);
- the date and time of your visit; and
- the pages you visited and files you downloaded.

This information is only used for statistical analysis and system administration.

User access may be recorded and email addresses may be stored by DMTC systems if a message is sent through this website. Information will only be used to respond to specific user queries and will not be used for any purpose other than stated. No attempt will be made to identify browsing activities except, in the unlikely event of an investigation, where a law enforcement agency may exercise a legal authority to inspect DMTC server logs.

For the avoidance of doubt, email addresses or other personal information will not be added to a mailing list unless they provided for that purpose, or express consent is otherwise given. Email addresses and/or personal information will not be disclosed to any other party without users' knowledge or consent.

If you think that any personal information we hold about you is inaccurate, or if you wish to alter or withdraw a previous consent to use any information you have provided, please contact us, and following authentication, we will take reasonable steps to address the matter immediately. This site may contain links to other sites. DMTC is not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of such websites. Where personal information is no longer needed for the purpose for which it was collected, DMTC will take all reasonable steps to destroy or permanently de-identify such personal information. You can request access to your personal information (if any) that we keep on record and we will provide you with access to such personal information, in accordance with the National Privacy Principles under the Privacy Act 1988. DMTC takes reasonable steps to make sure that the personal information it collects, uses or discloses is accurate, complete and up-to-date. If you believe any information that we keep on record is inaccurate, incomplete or out of date you may request that it be corrected. There is no fee for requesting access to your information, however, we may charge you the reasonable administrative costs of processing your request.
